One Life, Many Worlds By Julliena Okah

According to a 2009 AOL poll, 90 percent of respondents believe there is definitely (65 percent) or possibly (25 percent) "intelligent life" elsewhere in the universe.

Many books about UFO abductions and sightings sensationalize the fear-inducing experiences without moving beyond them. One Life, Many Worlds is the extraordinary life story of Julliena Okah, a young girl in post-World War II Japan, of the nonhuman beings she encountered as a child and later in life, and of the various paranormal events that led her along an unimaginable path.

While this story is one of hope and inspiration; it is also one of rough passage. Conflict between her paranormal experiences and her rational family's disbelief led her to a suicide attempt at the age of seventeen, only to be returned to the world of the living by those from beyond. She believes it to be her destiny to tell others the truth about her.
